HEARING AID CENTERS

Ed Kocher ACA, BC-HIS, and Charlotte, Founders

Ed Kocher, along with his wife Charlotte, started in the hearing aid profession nearly 40 years ago. As the original Founders of Advanced Tech Hearing Aid Centers, along with their daughters, Jennifer and Farrah (owner of Lewisburg, PA office), and their son, Dr. Christopher Kocher, AuD, their company has grown to be one of the largest and premier Hearing Aid businesses in the Central PA area. They truly are a “family-owned” business.

We believe every patient deserves sincere and honest service that exceeds their expectations. We treat you with the same care and concern as if you were a friend or family member. We continually provide that service by keeping abreast of the latest hearing aid technology and offer a selection of hearing aids manufactured by the best names in the industry.

Our prices are always reasonable and our service is unmatched by anyone, including having a repair lab on the premises. We offer a “try before you buy” program as we want anyone considering hearing aids not to worry about making a down payment, getting overwhelmed with technology or anything else. We simply want you to experience what it is like to hear what you have been missing and determine how much hearing aids will help you better your quality of life with good hearing. The real test takes place in your everyday life which is why we started offering this program many years ago. All you need to do is wear them for a week or so and just listen and experience the world around you to determine if the timing is right for you to take the step to better hearing. There is no cost or obligation on your part at all!

Hearing loss impacts more than you think and isn't just an ear issue; it's a quality of life and health issue. Growing evidence indicates that older adults with hearing loss are more likely to experience the symptoms of cognitive decline. Hearing aids can improve the negative effects of hearing loss on the brain.

Some of the effects of Untreated Hearing Loss are: increased mental fatigue/stress, poorer memory, difficulty focusing, poorer mental health, social withdrawal and depression.

We want you to “hear what you are missing,” so please call today 717-560-5023.
