

VISITING ANGELS

Visiting Angels of Lancaster has been providing essential care services to the community for more than twenty years and the demand for their services has increased over time. More and more seniors in Lancaster are choosing to remain independent in their senior years, but most need assistance to stay safe and healthy at home. Being an at-home caregiver allows you to care for the community every day by making a difference in the lives of seniors and their families.

Lancaster administration ensures care providers have current knowledge, practical strategies, and the best support possible. Each member of the team makes sure their employees develop and grow to best serve our community. Care providers are trained to ensure they always have current knowledge, practical strategies and the best support possible. Every at-home caregiver is licensed, bonded, insured and fully vetted. One-on-one care is at the heart of what Visiting Angels does and they strive to build a strong relationship with each of their clients. When opting for essential care services, families work with coordinators to create a custom care plan based on the clients' unique needs, preferences and abilities. Personal care assistants play an integral role in making sure clients are living their best life. Visiting Angels is looking for the best local caregivers to join the agency. They recruit care professionals with an array of experience.

If you are looking for a career that truly makes a difference in the world, get to know their Lancaster team, their clients, and their care services.
