FCCB (First Citizens Community Bank) invites you to discover a different kind of banking experience, where the focus is not just on transactions but on community connections. Setting itself apart, FCCB is committed to providing the right products and services with a proactive, personal touch that distinguishes them from larger banks. With three convenient locations in Lancaster County, including an in-store branch in Weaver's Store in Denver, a branch in downtown Mount Joy, and the newest branch in Ephrata, FCCB is putting down roots and bringing community banking to life in Lancaster County.

Differentiating themselves from larger counterparts, regional institutions like FCCB are deeply rooted in their local economies, and they stay attuned to the unique needs of the communities they serve. This approach has allowed FCCB to cultivate strong relationships with customers, facilitating the delivery of personalized services tailored to individual needs.

"In every community we serve, our commitment is to integrate ourselves into the neighborhood. We do this by building meaningful relationships, listening to the needs of the community, and actively contributing to make a positive impact. This helps build a sense of trust and community that resonates with our customers and has become one of the key factors setting FCCB apart from the competition," noted Randy Black, CEO & President of FCCB. "In an era where digital advancements can overshadow the value of personalized service, we are proving that a community-centered approach is the secret ingredient to our success."

FCCB believes in giving back as an integral part of their community banking vision. Lending support to small businesses, nonprofit organizations, municipalities, and farmers is not just a service but a commitment to keeping communities healthy. Over the last five years, FCCB has donated over $1.3 million to promote development in local communities, showcasing their dedication to the economic and social vitality of the neighborhoods they serve.

Based in Mansfield, Pennsylvania, FCCB extends its reach with 39 strategically located branches across Tioga, Bradford, Potter, Clinton, Centre, Union, Lebanon, Lancaster, Schuylkill, Berks, Bucks, Montgomery, Philadelphia, and Chester Counties in Pennsylvania. They also proudly serve Allegany County in New York, as well as New Castle and Kent Counties in Delaware, and Burlington County in New Jersey.
