

HESS AUCTION GROUP

John M. Hess Auction Service, Inc. found its beginnings in the early 90s in several small leased facilities as the epitome of a small family run business. In the beginning, owner John was not only the lead auctioneer, he was the only auctioneer. John's wife Jacy, and his sister Elizabeth, clerked and cashiered every sale. Slowly, the small business gained momentum with the construction of their Manheim facility along with the completion of an extremely successful period of marketing real estate at auctions.

Over the years, Hess Auction Group has built a team of friendly, experienced and knowledgeable professionals. Each individual is a specialist in fields such as real estate, farm and commercial equipment, antiques, coins, jewelry, firearms, and other areas. Their knowledge ensures that potential customers understand the worth of quality merchandise. No matter what needs to be sold, one of their companies has the experience and resources to market the merchandise of their clients. From direct mailings, to Internet, to specialty publications, they'll handle all the details. Their goals are to make selling easy for the client and to get the best value for merchandise.

Hess Auction Group utilizes the latest electronic tools in marketing, photography, print and digital advertising to increase efficiency and make the client's experience more rewarding.
