

STAUFFER DIESEL

Stauffer Diesel's origins began over 70 years ago in Lancaster County, PA as a small company put together by five brothers refurbishing and reselling stationary diesel engines. In 1963, the business became incorporated. The company has always been family-owned, and currently has a third generation of Stauffers helping to steer the ship.

Bookkeeper Brenda Stauffer states that Stauffer Diesel is much more than a distributor of diesel engines. Their experienced technicians live and breathe diesel power, and they look forward to serving all of the diesel power needs throughout the life of their customer's engines. Stauffer goes on to say: "Our sales technicians can use their years of experience to help identify the correct engine for any application. Our parts department can help keep our customer's engines in good working order. As the engine ages, our service department can rebuild and refurbish even the most heavily-used engines." Stauffer emphasizes that the focus of Stauffer Diesel is supporting their product from the initial sale all the way throughout the life of the product, developing a relationship with the customer to keep all their equipment running smoothly.

Along with being a distributor of high-quality engines, Stauffer Diesel is also a comprehensive resource that sells, services and supports the full lines of DEUTZ diesel engines, FPT diesel engines, and Mitsubishi diesel engines. They have DEUTZ and FPT factory-trained service technicians, a fully-stocked Parts Department, and deep knowledge that comes from decades of experience in the diesel business. The Service Department strives to keep up to date with all the latest technology through constant training. If you're looking for a new diesel engine or have a dealer inquiry, contact them today. They have in-depth field experience with the engines they sell and they can help you choose the right engine for any application. Contact them to learn more.
